Hancock traffic mishaps injure at least three

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
At least three people were injured in Hancock County traffic accidents Thursday.
A woman was injured in a two-car accident at about 4:15 p.m. at the intersection of Avenue B and Coral Street in Shoreline Park.
Euna Phillips, 56, of Route 1, Box 187, Bay St. Louis and driver of one of the autos was treated at Hancock General Hospital in that city for a forehead laceration and chest contusion then released. Mary Perkins, hospital public relations director, said Friday.
The other driver, Diane Johnson, 28, of 2311 Kiln-Waveland Cutoff Road in Shoreline, was examined in the hospital emergency room and released, Perkins reported.
A passenger in the Phillips' vehicle, Velma Pullian, 61, of First Avenue in Shoreline, was not admitted to the hospital, the public relations director added.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson of the Hancock Sheriff's Department said Friday that Phillips was cited with failure to yield the right-of-way and Johnson was cited for no drivers license.
Deputy Stanley Hamilton of the department at the accident scene reported his investigation indicates the Johnson vehicle was traveling east on Avenue B and the Phillips car was moving north on Coral when the collision occurred.
Peterson concluded based on Hamilton's report that the Phillips' vehicle was struck in the left rear fender by the front of the other car.
Assisting Hamilton at the accident scene was Deputy Orealla (Cookie) Sams.

An accident earlier Thursday at the US-90 and Waveland Avenue intersection injured a woman and boy.
Chief Donald Dorn of the Waveland Police Department later that day said the three-vehicle crash was might have been caused by malfunctioning traffic lights and no citations were issued in the incident.
He explained just before the mishap the department was notified that the traffic lights facing the avenue's northbound lanes and US-90's eastbound lanes were smashed which apparently caused the remaining signals to malfunction.
Dorn speculated a truck carrying an unusually tall load might have caused the damage.
Perkins said Crystal Schoonemaker, 20, of 625 Old Spanish Trail in Waveland was treated at HGH for a head laceration and strained leg muscle and released.
Samuel Schoonemaker, 13, of the same address was treated for abrasions and released, Perkins added.
The accident occurred at about 11:30 a.m. Thursday.
Patrolman Veronica Hattabaugh of the Waveland department later that day reported the cause of the accident and traffic light damage is under investigation.
Hattabaugh said shortly after the accident she observed the traffic signal simultaneously lit red and green in the westbound US-90 lanes.
A van driven by Carol M. Santella, 22, of Route 2, Box 532-B in Shoreline was traveling west on US-90 with Scotty and Micheal Santella, two and three respectively, as passengers, the patrolman said.
The front of the van struck a car in the passenger-side door in the intersection which was traveling north on Waveland Avenue driven by Crystal Schoonemaker, Hattabaugh reported.
Samuel Schoonemaker was a passenger in the car, she added.
Also, an automobile which had just crossed the intersection, moving south on Waveland Avenue and driven by Hazel L. Chazez, 47, of Route 1, Box 112, Bay St. Louis was struck by the van when it apparently "ricocheted" after striking the Schoonemaker car, Hattabaugh reported.

Board ready to adopt Redistricting plan Monday

By BREARD SNELLINGS
A new redistricting plan for Hancock County will be adopted at the Monday morning (9 a.m.) meeting of the County Board of Supervisors.
The meeting will be held in the Supervisors Board Room, top floor of the Hancock County Court House on Main St. in Bay St. Louis.
A.A. (Dolph) Kellar, president of the board, could not be reached for comment on the upcoming meeting, but Supervisor Sam Perniciaro from District 4 said "the Gulf Regional Planning Commission has reviewed the redistricting plan of the Hancock Action League, and will present it along with the county plan at Monday's meeting."

According to Perniciaro, the supervisors will then vote on which plan to adopt.
Technically, redistricting has to be completed before the next general primary election in August, or the election could be challenged in court as invalid.

The HAL plan and county plan differ primarily in street boundary lines between districts four and five.
The HAL plan calls for a different distribution of black population. Representatives of the county's black communities claim the black vote is weakened by the proposed plan of the county.

The HAL plan was first presented before the supervisors on Feb. 14 by Father Francis Theriault, representing the NAACP.
The plan of the predominantly-black action group calls for 24.5 percent of the voters in District Five to be black, with a 13.6 percent black vote in District 2, a 3.4 percent black vote in District 4, a 6.6 percent black vote in District 1 and a 1.5 percent black vote in district 3.

The county plan differs primarily by the boundary lines that take black voters from the District 5 boundaries of HAL and puts them in District 4, thereby reversing the black vote in the HAL plan.
Any plan adopted by the supervisors must then be approved by the U.S. Justice Department, which recommends no more, if possible, then a three percent deviation in population in the five districts from the ideal average district population total of 4,899, based on a total county population of 24,497.

In District 1, the county plan calls for a 1 percent deviation on a population of 4,944, compared to a 4.7 percent deviation in the HAL plan, based on a total of 4,670.
In District 2, the county plan and the HAL plan both call for a 4 percent

Supervisors to consider Stennis airport contracts

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
The Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday will consider two contracts concerning Stennis International Airport improvement projects.
The Hancock Port and Harbor Commission at a Thursday night recess meeting approved a resolution urging the supervisors to accept a low bid from Bond Paving Co., Inc. of Gulfport to enlarge the airport terminal apron.
In addition, the commission approved a resolution asking the supervisors to authorize a lease agreement with Bay Aviation, Inc., the airport fixed-base operator, for managing a proposed additional hanger building at Stennis.

Michael Smith of Advanced Developments, Inc., the commission engineer, recommended the board accept Bond's $193,075 bid which is less than ADI's $235,736 estimate for the project.
The work scope includes expanding the existing paved portion of the ter-

Wastewater body eyes facility improvements

By BREARD SNELLINGS
With monies for the $112,000 projected annual budget coming in, the Waveland Regional Wastewater Management District has begun laying plans for upgrading the district sewerage facilities.

The district has already received checks for the months January and February from the City of Waveland for wastewater service, the monies coming from a $2 wastewater rate increase passed last month by the Waveland Board of Aldermen.

At Wednesday night's monthly meeting of the district, Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett, a member of the district, told district president John Longo that the checks from the City of Bay St. Louis for wastewater service for the months of January through March would be paid no later than Monday.

The Bay St. Louis City Council voted monthly sewerage rate increases of $2 for residential and $5 for commercial users at its Tuesday night meeting.

Monies for the months January through March will come from a three-quarter mill property tax collected a year and a half ago. Bay St. Louis sewerage rates will go up with the April bills.

Bay City Councilman Gene Taylor was at the district meeting to state that the Bay Council wanted Owen and White Engineers of Baton Rouge as the engineers of record for the district.

Taylor pointed out that the Baton Rouge firm had done much of the study on multi-use aeration devices at the Bay St. Louis lagoon (sewerage oxidation ponds), and the council felt the firm had come up with the most viable method of doing repair and improvement work at the lagoon.

Longo pointed out that the engineering firm of Lewis-Eaton Partnership engineers of Jackson had already been designated the district's engineers of record, and that Owen and White did not respond when bids for the district's work were advertised.

Taylor argued that the request for bids was not advertised in newspapers, that the Baton Rouge firm members might read.

Longo said he had no objections to Owen and White doing some of the work at the Bay St. Louis lagoon if an agreement with Lewis-Eaton could be worked out.

Taylor pointed out that the Bay council felt some responsibility for the lagoon, since it was in Bay St. Louis. The district wastewater plant is in Waveland.

Raymond Eaton of Lewis-Eaton then told the district that his firm had completed the Plan 201 Study as outlined by the Federal Wastewater Act of 1972.

Longo said the next move of the district would be to proceed with an application for federal funding.

Bennett then moved that federal funds be applied for, and the motion was passed by the district.

District member Ethel Schott explained after the meeting that studies 201 and 208 must be completed before federal funding can come through. Lewis-Eaton has not yet completed Plan 208.

Longo said he will meet with the Mississippi Air and Water Pollution Control Board Friday, and that with the completion of the Plan 201 study, he felt the next priority was doing repair and modification work on the Bay St. Louis lagoon.

Also at Wednesday's meeting, Peter Neely, 12, a student at Christ Episcopal Day School, was presented a $50 check from Longo from the district for winning the contest for drawing the best wastewater district logo.

The contest was held between students of several area schools.

Neely is the son of Patrick and Barbara Neely of Bay St. Louis. His logo is divided into three sections, with WRWMD in one, a drop of water in another, and a picture of the wastewater plant in the third.

Utility companies study Bienville power problems

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Some six power interruptions since January 1, 1983 have the officials of Borg Warner Chemical Plant at Port Bienville in Hancock County very concerned, according to Leo Kowal, local manager.
Kowal on Friday said, "Everytime there is a power interruption, we lose $50-100,000 in production. We have had 12 interruptions within the last year, with six of them coming since January 1."
The latest interruptions were on Thursday morning, and spokesmen from Coast Electric Power Association and Mississippi Power Company attributed the cause to Louisiana Power and Light.
Borg Warner is supplied electricity from Coast Electric, which in turn purchases the power from Mississippi Power.
Bob Ochi, operations manager for Coast Electric stated, "We are looking at data of the interruptions, and want to provide the service necessary for Borg Warner's operations at Port Bienville, as well as to all of our consumers."
"Coast Electric is going to do everything in its power in working with our supplier, Mississippi Power and Borg Warner to try and minimize the interruptions," Ochi added.
Tommy Smith, division manager for Mississippi Power in Gulfport commented, "We are going to address the problem and do anything we can to provide the necessary service to Coast Electric for Borg Warner."

"On Thursday we received many calls about the interruption along the Coast, DuPont, Keesler Air Force Base, and numerous businesses, especially those with computers, contacted us," Smith allowed.
Ochi, when contacted Friday, said he had just been at a meeting with officials from Mississippi Power to discuss the Borg Warner problems.
When there is an interruption, Kowal reported it takes from six to 12 hours to get production back to Class A.
Borg Warner, which produces a plastic at Port Bienville, went into operations in March of 1962. The company currently has a work force of 48 and is reportedly looking into the possibility of expansion. If the expansion is at Port Bienville, this could mean another 75-100 jobs.
Kowal explained "At Port Bienville, Borg Warner has been well pleased with the atmosphere. Local employees, good services, cooperation from elected officials, and transportation has all been exceptional. Our only big problem is power interruptions."
The local manager would only say that there is a possibility for an expansion, that his company was looking at three sites, and that he would like to see it here.
Borg Warner's plant in Hancock County currently occupies only 56 of a 205-acre industrial site.
Smith stated, "Our Economic Development Department at Mississippi Power is always trying to secure new industry for the Coast, as well as helping in plant expansions."

Library dedication marks end of funding cycle

The formal opening of the Waveland Public Library today at 3 p.m. marks the end of an era of unprecedented improvement of library facilities in the state of Mississippi.

According to a spokesman for the Mississippi Library Commission, the Waveland Library renovation is one of more than 129 public library buildings to be constructed, remodelled, or enlarged since 1966 with federal Library Services and Construction Act grants or state revenue sharing funds specifically allocated for improvement of library facilities.

Numerous other libraries in the state, including the Kiln Library and seven others on the coast, were financed entirely by local governments during this time.

Mississippi received more than two and a half million dollars in federal funds before the Library Services and Construction Act was discontinued in 1974.

The Hancock County Library System headquarters building on US-90 was the last library constructed and furnished with LSCA funding.

The local library system received more than $200,000 in grant money which was matched with $136,000 from Hancock County, Bay St. Louis, and private donations.

The Mississippi Library Commission as well as librarians, library trustees, and citizens across the state then urged the Mississippi State Legislature to use newly acquired revenue sharing funds as a means of continuing library construction projects.

Because of this state-wide support and the feeling by state legislators that quality library facilities were a priority need for the state's citizens, the legislature approved the funding by an almost unanimous vote.

In 1974 and 1975, state revenue sharing funds were combined with local monies throughout the state to build sixty-six libraries at a cost of sixteen and a half million dollars.

The last allocation in 1977 included the Waveland Library grant and twenty-seven other libraries. Total expenditures for these projects was five million dollars.

Library construction has had far-reaching effects throughout the state in the last two decades. The most important factor is that almost every Mississippi community now has access to library and information services. These projects also put more than twenty-six million dollars into the state's economy during their construction.

In addition, libraries are employers of people and require goods and services to operate. Last year Mississippi public library expenditures for annual operation exceeded twelve million dollars.

Now that state revenue sharing allocations have ended, the Mississippi Library Commission will be looking to alternative funding such as community development block grants and non-public sources for improving library facilities. It is also hoped that construction funds under the Library Services and Construction Act will be reinstated.

The state agency will also continue its efforts to focus on the need of better print and non-print collections; expanded library hours and services; and additional qualified staff in public library systems. These expenditures are almost totally financed by local governments.

Accomplishing these goals is made more difficult with today's economy, but as the MLC spokesman points out, "The support of the state legislature and government officials on the local level such as those in Waveland, Bay St. Louis, and Hancock County show that they are aware of the enormous benefits quality library facilities and services provide our state's citizens."

The library commission looks forward to working with these officials as well as librarians, trustees, and lay citizens in making public libraries a force for educational excellence in Mississippi.

PLANT CORN ON TIME

Farmers in Hancock County preparing to plant corn are reminded to plant crops on time to reduce problems with insects. Late planted corn is a haven for insects.

Planting at recommended dates will minimize these problems. The best time to plant corn are February 25 to March 15 in south Mississippi and March 15 to April 15 in south-central Mississippi.

Growers in north-central Mississippi are advised to plant March 25 to April 20. North Mississippi growers have April 1 to April 20 as optimum dates.

Corn in Mississippi is subject to attack from cutworms, corn rootworms, wireworms, borers, chinch bugs and budworms.

Chinch bugs may attack corn at almost any stage of growth, but they prefer young plants. You need to apply 20 to 25 gallons of spray per acre using ground equipment to control this pest.

The large amount of spray is needed because chinch bugs stay underneath the leaf sheaves. For best control spray nozzles should be directed downward in a "post-direct" fashion to the lower half of the plant.

The same total spray rate and application method for chinch bugs applies to the budworm group — earworms, armyworms and borers.

For more information on how to control corn insects, call or drop by the County Extension Office. Ask for the publication 899, "Control of Insects Attacking Corn."

Today is the big day for the Waveland Public Library, as it will have its formal opening after a large addition.

As we have mentioned several times before, the library system in Hancock County has made tremendous strides in recent years.

The ribbon cutting is scheduled for 3 p.m. this afternoon with an open house from 3:30 to 5:00 p.m.

It wasn't too long ago when Waveland's Library was a bus, and then it moved to a couple of rooms upstairs in the City Hall.

There are many folks responsible for the recent addition to the library on Coleman Avenue next to the Civic Center. It was funded by the City of Waveland, Hancock County, the Hancock County Library System, private donations, and State Revenue Sharing Funds through the Mississippi Library Commission.

We are very proud of the Waveland Public Library and were given a tour recently by Mildred Means, librarian.

We urge you to try and visit the library this afternoon and take a look for yourself.

The officials of the City of Waveland, Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Library Board of Trustees, and many others are scheduled to be at the big event.

We hope to see you this afternoon at the Waveland Library.

We are not too sure in how many areas hail fell Friday afternoon, but we know it was marble size at our office.

It has been a very long time since we have seen hail so large.

We do remember many years ago when hail the size of golf balls fell and damaged the paint on several automobiles.

It seems we have had all types of weather this year.

IN CONGRESS

By Cong.
Trent Lott

ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION

"Like a timebomb ticking unchecked toward an explosion, the problem of illegal aliens in the United States amounts to a growing menace."

That's how I began an article in 1978 on the failure of Congress to deal with a matter which seems to grow more serious by the day: how to stem the tide of immigrants who seek entry into our country illegally.

A comprehensive immigration reform bill was introduced on the last Congress, but didn't make it to a vote because it was saddled with proposed amendments. Similar legislation is now being prepared again, and I hope it fares better.

What we're talking about is a drain on the U.S. economy caused by the 1.5 million to 2 million illegal aliens estimated by some to enter the U.S. each year. Many come from Mexico and Latin America where crossing the border is relatively easy.

People come here for the age-old reasons, to escape poverty and unemployment they find in their homeland, and to live in the "land of opportunity." Often what they find, however, is a country in which most frontiers have been explored already, work is not guaranteed and resources are growing more scarce.

Undocumented immigrants are seen as a threat to the American economy and employment stability and, in some cases, health and security. They usually accept lower wages and substandard conditions. They are often exploited by employers.

Contrary to popular opinion, only 15 percent of illegal aliens work as farm laborers for below the minimum wage. Testimony before Congressional subcommittees revealed that 30 percent hold "blue collar" jobs which could go to Americans.

Many in Congress believe it is possible to preserve the tradition of immigration while placing more control on immigration with a new, enforceable law. The bill is being prepared now, with hearings scheduled in March before a House subcommittee.

The legislation, frankly, contains some provisions that will generate controversy again in all probability. The proposal would establish a system to identify aliens who are eligible to work and sanctions on employers who knowingly hire illegal aliens. One of the most controversial features involves granting amnesty to aliens who have been in this country for a period of time.

Hopefully, the legislation can be appropriately amended so that most misgivings can be eliminated.

It does seem to me that stemming the tide of illegal immigration should be a priority for Congress, the administration, labor and business alike. It's something we can work together on the change for the better.

WELCOME TO HANCOCK COUNTY!—Motorists entering Hancock County from the West are greeted by this trash heap on US-90 west of BaySide Park. It is near the area where we see many folks collecting water from the free-flowing well. Scenes like this should not be along our highways and roadways in Hancock County. We hope proper actions are taken on this matter very soon. (Staff photo by Ellis Cuevas).

Small-business Angle

by Wilson S. Johnson

FAIR TRADE FAVORED

Should a percentage of the parts going into cars sold in this country be made in the U.S.A.? Fifty-seven percent of the small-business owners responding to a recent poll by the National Federation of Independent Business said no.

Small-business people are free traders. NFIB has been asking members questions about foreign trade for many years, and they have consistently opposed restrictions. In February of 1981 they voted 68 to 27 percent against limiting the number of foreign-made autos imported into the U.S. In 1977, by a vote of two-to-one, they rejected the idea of restricting imports of foreign-produced steel.

In the most recent survey, small-business people responding said they oppose any kind of trade restriction. An Ohio man wrote, "Trade restriction is just another name for protectionism. The world is getting smaller and cannot afford restrictions." He added that he does favor "restrictions of a retaliatory nature." In fact, in an NFIB survey last July, 61 percent of those responding favored a policy of strict reciprocity in trade with foreign countries.

On the matter of domestic content of automobiles, Congress is considering legislation to require American parts in all vehicles sold here. Advocates of that legislation say the bill will save jobs in auto and related industries, but opponents argue that such a trade restriction would reduce competition, raising the prospects of increased auto prices.

A New York small-business owner sees the issue this way: "The auto industry must remain healthy for the good of America. However, it is time the unions realize that their wages are grossly inflated and, instead of more restrictions on competition, the unions should start restricting themselves."

William Dunkelberg, a Purdue University professor who serves as economist for NFIB says the only way to rescue the faltering auto and steel industries in the U.S. is for workers in those industries to accept lower wages. He believes that the national focus on retraining workers for high technology jobs is not the answer. "If workers were willing to accept substantially lower wages and remain in the auto and steel industries, those industries could compete, and a substantial number of jobs, which would otherwise be lost, could be preserved," Dunkelberg said.

Few would argue that something must be done to help those who have been put out of work by the increased competition of foreign steel and auto producers. The question is what to do. Most small-business owners think further trade restrictions are the wrong answer. They favor free trade and fair play among trading countries.

(Wilson S. Johnson is president of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.)

News from the Governor

HEROISM AWARD

James Posey, the Franklin County sheriff killed September 23, 1982, is the recipient of the Governor's Heroism Award for 1982.

Gov. William Winter noted Posey, 37, died of gunshot wounds after he exchanged himself for four hostages who were held by a man awaiting trial for manslaughter.

Posey becomes the fourth Mississippiian to receive the award and the first awarded it posthumously.

Posey was shot in the chest by a Brookhaven man, Derald V. Coghlan, 25. Posey had persuaded Coghlan to release a Franklin County woman, two of her children and one of her grandchildren. Posey, unarmed, took the place of the hostages.

Coghlan abducted the hostages earlier from their McCall's Creek residence after stealing a gun and a sum of money from a nearby business.

The sheriff convinced Coghlan to abandon the automobile owned by one of the hostages and to accompany him to a county patrol car. Posey was attempting to take Coghlan to the sheriff's office to discuss Coghlan's problems.

Witnesses said Posey and Coghlan exchanged words in the patrol car and said Coghlan suddenly fired his pistol twice with one bullet hitting Posey. Law enforcement officers at the scene immediately shot and killed Coghlan.

Sheriff Posey died a short time later at a Brookhaven hospital.

The hostages, Eve Welch, 41, her son, Charles, 14, her daughter, Maria, 17, and her infant grandson, Larry Hawley, were not harmed in the incident.

Posey's actions were described as having "exemplified the highest ideals of law enforcement insofar as courage and public service are involved," in a statement written by Capt. Billie Hughes, commander of the Highway Patrol troop headquartered at Brookhaven.

"He would have done anything to save a man's life," Mayor V.L. Saxon of Meadville, a friend of Posey's, said.

The Governor's Award for Heroism for 1982 will be presented by Gov. Winter to Posey's widow, Donna, at a special ceremony March 10. The presentation is set for 11 a.m. in the auditorium of the Woolfolk State Office Building in Jackson.

The 1980 Governor's Heroism Award was presented to Greenwood Police Department Detective Andrew L. Cates who exchanged himself for a hostage taken by an armed man who had robbed a bank November 7, 1980.

The 1981 award was presented to Jessie Bernard (Dick) Green and George Franklin Berryhill who extricated 25 pre-school children from a burning school bus December 17, 1981.

Four children and an adult supervisor died when the bus careened off a Calhoun County bridge near Hermanville.

The heroism award was established by Gov. Winter to recognize achievements that demonstrate bravery in preserving the life and safety of another person.

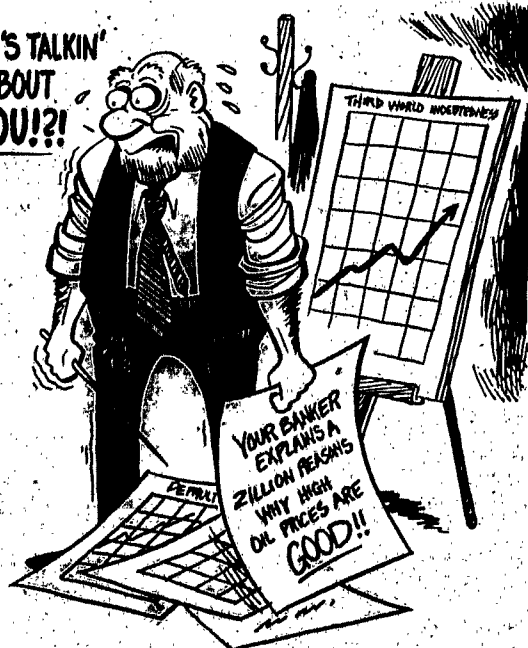

Any citizen of Mississippi is eligible for the award. Nominations for the award may be made by anyone. A five member committee studies nominations and recommends candidates for the award to the governor.

Committee members included Joe Ellis Jr., Clarksdale; Capt. Viola B. Sanders, Sison; Helen King and Edwin Mullen, both of Jackson; and Lt. Gen. Sidney B. Berry of Jackson, chairman.

NEW USCG PATROL SHIP—Almost $3.5 million worth of marijuana was seized recently by the U.S. Coast Guard using its new high-speed patrol ship Sea Hawk whose crew stopped and boarded a 41-foot sailboat, Family Affair, during a routine patrol 300 miles southwest of Key West, Florida. The boarding party fought a fire and stopped flooding aboard the sailboat after discovering the marijuana. Three Florida Residents and one California resident were arrested onboard the sailboat, and were later transferred to the Coast Guard station in Key West. Sea Hawk was built by Bell Helter Inc. of New Orleans, La. specifically for use in drug interdiction in the lower Gulf of Mexico and in the Caribbean. The Sea Hawk and its sister ship, the Shearwater, are in the Seabird class of cutters, and are surface effect ships (SES). They were delivered to the Coast Guard in October, 1982 and are based in Key West. A third SES, Petrel, is scheduled to be delivered in June 1983. SES vessels travel on a cushion of air trapped between rigid sidehulls. Each is 110 feet in length, 29 feet wide, and capable of speeds in excess of 30 knots. They are more fuel efficient and capable of higher speeds than conventional crafts.

NASA to test larger parachutes for Shuttle

A series of three "drop tests" are planned to check out improvements of the Space Shuttle solid rocket booster's deceleration system at the National Parachute Range, China Lake, Calif.

According to Royce Mitchell, technical assistant to the manager of the Solid Rocket Booster Project at the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, Ala., the three tests are designed to validate the use of larger parachutes for the boosters.

The parachutes are used to slow the boosters' rate of descent prior to impact into the ocean.

The boosters are then recovered and refurbished for use on a later flight.

The parachute system currently consists of a small pilot chute, a drogue chute, and three main parachutes which are 115 feet in diameter. The new main parachutes will be 138 feet in diameter.

"By using the larger main parachutes we will reduce the velocity of the boosters at water impact from 89 feet-per-second to about 75 feet-per-second. This will relieve the structural loads on the booster at impact by approximately 25 percent and reduce the amount of localized impact damage which occurred during the Shuttle's flight test phase," said Mitchell.

The drop tests will be performed using a test article which is one third the size of a booster and one full scale parachute.

The test article will be attached to a modified B-52 aircraft, from NASA's Dryden Flight Research Facility in California, and flown to an altitude of approximately 20,000 feet.

After the aircraft releases the test article over the parachute range, both ground-based and chase aircraft will film the mock-booster's descent.

"The test will provide us with the necessary data for evaluating design, deployment processes and parachute performance," said Mitchell.

"The testing and evaluation should be completed later this year and we expect to begin using the larger parachutes by mid-1984.

The booster's deceleration system was designed by Martin Marietta Corporation, Denver, Colo., under the direction of the Marshall Space Flight Center. The parachutes are provided by Pioneer Parachute Co. of Manchester, Conn.

Bay attorney fined $500 for contempt

By BREARD SNELLINGS

Bay St. Louis attorney Henry J. Cook III Thursday was judged in contempt of Hancock County Chancery Court and fined $500.

The contempt sentence was levied by Chancellor John S. Morris in connection with a divorce and child custody case in which Cook represents the divorcee.

The court held Cook had assisted his client in preparation of a letter which she sent to her ex-husband telling him he could have visitation privileges with his daughter only at the ex-wife's house or at some neutral, supervised location.

That letter resulted in the denial of five visitation periods to the husband, the court held.

A visitation agreement between the two, based in a Chancery Court decree issued in September, 1978 modifying the original visitation rights, gave the husband expanded visitation rights to two weekends per month from 6 p.m. on Fridays to 6 p.m. on Sundays.

Morris some ten days ago fined the woman $800 for eight separate denials of her ex-husband's visitation privileges, and imposed a 30-day suspended jail sentence.

James G. Tucker, Cook's law partner who filed a brief on Cook's behalf in the contempt proceedings, said in that document that Cook's actions "should be treated as nothing more than zealous advocacy."

Tucker contended further, "The actions of Mr. Cook in this matter do not warrant censure by the Court, for to do so would have a chilling effect upon the right to counsel."

Nuclear waste policy hearing slated in N.O.

The Nuclear Waste Policy Act of 1982 was enacted into law on Jan. 7, 1983. A provision of that Act, Public Law 97-425, requires the U.S. Department of Energy to develop general guidelines for the recommendation of sites for nuclear waste repositories.

The guidelines are required to be developed by July 7, 1983.

The Secretary of Energy is also required to specify those factors necessary to qualify or disqualify sites as repositories.

Additionally, the law requires the U.S. Department of Energy to conduct public hearings on the proposed guidelines. On Feb. 7, 1983, the guidelines were published in the Federal Register as a proposed rule.

A schedule of public hearings on the proposed rule was published in the February 14, 1983, Federal Register.

The hearing for the Southeastern United States, including Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas, is scheduled to be conducted on Monday at the Poydras A and B Rooms of the Hyatt Regency Hotel, 500 Poydras Plaza, New Orleans, La. at 9 a.m.

Citizens are encouraged to attend the hearing. Time has been made available for oral presentations on the proposed rule.

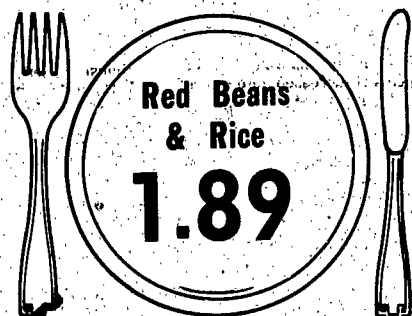

For further information persons may contact John W. Green Jr., Nuclear Waste Program manager of the Mississippi Energy and Transportation Board at (601) 961-4733, or the U.S. Department of Energy, Office of Hearings and Dockets in Washington, D.C. at (202) 252-9319.

mineral apron southward 450 feet to front the proposed hanger building and adding a 300-foot grass-covered apron adjoining the north side of the present aircraft parking area, Smith explained.

He noted the expansions will maintain the 300-foot width of the present apron.

James DeBlanc, commission executive director, said the expanded paved area will add 44 aircraft tie-down spaces and the grass-covered apron will provide light plane parking for increased traffic expected during the 1984 World's Fair in New Orleans.

Stennis' present 27 tie-down spaces are all filled, he confirmed.

ADI secured a $200,000 Federal Aviation Administration grant for the airport improvement project, DeBlanc noted.

Smith said his company's fee for handling the entire project would be about $16,000.

Two other Gulfport firms submitted bids which included Southland Enterprises, Inc. at $211,000 and Necaise Construction Co., Inc. at $213,000, the engineer reported.

DeBlanc and Commissioners David McDonald and Victor Frankiewicz all attributed the low bids to the present recession.

Regarding the proposed agreement with Bay Aviation, DeBlanc explained the document includes a 15-year lease with monthly installment fees plus a percentage of revenues generated through the new facility.

The executive director said the exact monthly fee amount will not be established until the total construction cost of the new hanger is determined.

DeBlanc added a lean-to structure will be attached to the north side of the hanger building to house the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's private jet aircraft.

In other business at the 7:30 p.m. meeting at its Waveland offices, the commission:

—Rescinded a previous resolution establishing the commission's share of Bay Aviation's revenues. DeBlanc explained the action removes a previous rate schedule which was not rescinded by the group when a new agreement was adopted;

—Approved a resolution approving a $1,789 payment to Montgomery Maintenance, Inc. of Montgomery, Ala. for parts and labor to repair the Port Bienville Short Line Railroad locomotive;

—Approved a resolution for tentative approval of easements for Borg-Warner Chemicals at Port Bienville Industrial Park for gas and effluent lines for the company pending review of preliminary plans for the work and with the condition that other industries may tap into the gas line;

—Approved a resolution proposing a $150 fee per barge for the first two days and a $50 daily demurrage fee per barge for Mississippi Pumping Service, Inc. to utilize the industrial park turning basin to unload drilling fluids for disposal in Hancock. DeBlanc explained the proposed contract will be for a six-month period with an option to renew for another six months;

—Approved a resolution authorizing the purchase of no more than $1,500 in herbicides to kill weeds along the railroad rights-of-way;

—Heard a report from Frankiewicz, Security Committee chairman, reporting the commission should at a later date consider imposing a fee for commission tenants to add a guard service at the industrial park. He said the fee should be delayed due to the poor economy and because the problem with trespassers would not occur until the winter hunting season opens;

—Heard a report from DeBlanc that all but three industrial park tenants have agreed Port Bienville should be a designated wildlife refuge to ban hunting in the area;

—Heard a report from DeBlanc that water meters have been installed for all Port Bienville industries except Halter Marine, Inc. He said Halter's meter would be installed when the shut down company resumes manufacturing work there.

deviation on 4,702 population.

In District 3, the county plan has 4,972 population with a 1.5 percent deviation, while the HAL plan has 5,100 with a 5.6 percent deviation.

In District 4, the county plan is 5,072 and 3.5 percent and the HAL plan is 4,794 and 2.8 percent.

In District 5, the county plan is 4,807 and 1.9 percent and the HAL plan is 5,231 and 6.8 percent.

The county plan is based upon meetings the board held with the Gulf Regional Planning Commission for almost a year before it was first presented at a September public hearing.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS DAMAGED—Sweeping debris from shattered traffic lights off the eastbound lanes of US-90 Thursday morning is Investigator Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille of the Waveland Police Department as Chief Donald Dorn of the department directs traffic at the highway's Waveland Avenue intersection. Dorn later that day reported the Waveland Avenue and eastbound highway signals were apparently damaged by a truck carrying a tall load. The damage apparently caused the remaining lights to malfunction which might have contributed to a three-car accident at the intersection which injured two people, he said. Dorn noted State Highway Department crews quickly replaced the destroyed lights the same day. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Gulf Pines Council marks Girl Scout Week

March 6-12 is Girl Scout Week and the Gulf Pines Girl Scout Council is extending the invitation "We found a new world—come on in!"

For over 70 years Girl Scouting has opened new worlds of thought and action to American girls and adults.

The individual Girl Scout begins by working at her own level and pace, discovering new worlds that are uniquely her own.

As she grows, her interests change.

Girl Scouting help her realize her potential and develop her abilities to accept new challenges.

She eagerly seeks and confidently explores the many new worlds provided through Girl Scouting, in the world of career awareness, of crafts from America's past, of knowing and serving the community, of outdoor living and environmental awareness.

Adults can discover a new world in Girl Scouting, too. Men, women, senior citizens and even entire families are involved as short- or long-term volunteers.

As a volunteer an adult can develop her potential, learn new job skills, put special talents to use, be a positive influence in girls' lives.

Gulf Pines Girl Scouts are celebrating Girl Scout Week with a Mall Event, Saturday, March 12 at Edgewater Mall.

They will share their new worlds with the public through displays, skits and other activities.

Gulf Pines will also participate in Women Awareness Week at Singing River Mall, March 8-12 with an information booth of opportunities available to volunteers in Girl Scouting.

AIRMAN HOWARD

Airman Algernon Howard, son of Darval and Deloris Laurie of 224 Clarence Ave., Pass Christian, has been assigned to Keesler Air Force Base, after completing Air Force basic training.

During the six weeks at Lackland Air Force Base, Texas, the airman studied the Air Force mission, organization and customs and received special training in human relations.

In addition, airmen who complete basic training earn credits toward an associate degree in applied science through the Community College of the Air Force.

The airman will now receive specialized instruction in the administration field.

The airman is a 1980 graduate of Pass Christian High School.

Women Realtors to meet Monday

The Gulf Coast Chapter of Women's Council of Realtors is scheduled to meet Monday, 7 p.m. at The Depot in Gulfport.

Social hour will open at 6:30 p.m. Guest speaker will be D'Auby Schiel, chairman of the Board of Jefferson Bank and chairman of the Small Business Administration Advisory Council, the group that advises the Jackson and Biloxi offices of the SBA and recommends to Washington Better ways to enhance the small business community.

Educational speaker will be Freddie Jacobs of Century-21 Haik and Associated, who will talk about Long Beach.

A proposed by-laws amendment will be voted which proposes changing the meeting night to the second Tuesday of each month.

Members are urged to make reservations to attend this meeting. Guests are welcome.

Assisting Hattabough at the accident scene were Dorn and Investigators Sandra (Sam) Henley and Robert (Poochy) Tartavouille, all of the department; Deputy Dennis Tartavouille of the sheriff's department; the Waveland Fire Department; and Mobile Medic.

In addition, a traffic accident with injuries reportedly occurred late Thursday afternoon at the intersection of Hwy's 604 and 607 near Pearlinton.

A State Highway Patrol spokesman Friday said Trooper David Kenny investigated the accident, but he was unavailable for comment Friday.

TAX SAVINGS IN THE NICK OF TIME!

SAVE TAX DOLLARS AND PROVIDE FOR YOUR RETIREMENT WITH A HANCOCK BANK IRA!

Even as you read this message, time is ticking away toward April 15. But Hancock Bank has a plan that can help you cut the taxes you'll pay this year and provide for your retirement.

It's the Hancock Bank Individual Retirement Account, and with it, you can earn interest and defer taxes until your retirement. An individual can set aside up to $2,000, and a working couple can set aside up to $4,000... tax free! And you can do this even if you're covered by another pension plan.

Ask your Hancock representative how an easy-to-open IRA can delay tax day. But hurry... time is running out! And don't forget: right now, your IRA can be eligible for 1982 tax benefits.

Federal regulations require a substantial interest penalty for early withdrawal of funds from an IRA. Also, the Internal Revenue Service imposes a 10% penalty on the amount withdrawn and the amount withdrawn must be included in taxable income.

Silver Tea draws record attendance

By JOE PILET

Publicist

St. Monica Guild

They came by the hundreds. They came early and they stayed late.

They came in groups, and many came alone. They came from New Orleans, Baton Rouge, Ocean Springs, Biloxi, Gulfport, Long Beach, Waveland and Bay St. Louis.

And there were several out-of-state guests from Virginia and North Carolina.

Everyone seemed to enjoy the spring-like day, and the beautifully furnished home of the J. Edgar Monroes on Scenic Drive in Pass Christian, site of the St. Monica Guild's fabulous silver tea, an annual event founded in the mid-1930's.

This year's tea honored the memory of the late Mrs. Stanford Morse Sr.

Four guest registration books were used to move along the flow of guests with Mmes. Harrington, Hilzlm, H.M. Minnie, J. Rollins Murray, Herman deVries, Frank Andersen, and Miss Jane Northrop alternating as registrars.

Mmes. A. M. Dantzer and Walter A. Martin received well deserved praise on their floral arrangements that brought unity throughout the reception rooms.

A garland of magnolia leaves roped off the private upstairs rooms, while peach blossoms, Japanese magnolia flowers, camellias, and flowering quince were placed in harmonious groupings in all opened rooms.

Ladies of the St. Monica Guild greeted guests at stations where they were appointed by Mrs. Theo. Moore, who served as hostess chairperson.

Official receptionists included Mrs. Monroe, hostess, together with Mrs. H. McDonald Morse, wife of the Trinity rector, and Mrs. J. Randolph Buck, president of St. Monica Guild.

Assisting the official receptionists were Mmes. Ducros Stoupe of Pass Christian and Nunez C. Pilet of Bay St. Louis, who serve as treasurer and recording secretary of the guild.

The tea table was covered with an exceptionally lovely cloth of Brussels lace and was centered with a large arrangement of pink carnations reflected in the shimmering crystals of the chandelier and balanced with tall, beautifully wrought silver candle holders.

The silver coffee and tea services were antiques of the finest silversmith craftsmanship. Pourers alternating at the service included Mmes. John McCloskey, R. S. Carrington, Marvin Minglehoff, Rosemond Wallace, Malcolm Dinwiddie and Huron Virden.

When asked of Mrs. Monroe whether she brought the tea cloth from Brussels she said: "No, we bought that cloth from an estate auction. I am fond of the interesting and unusual toile (pattern)."

Brussels, made world famous for its lace making art, was recognized by artists including Raphael and Valazques who glorified lace in their paintings.

Lafayette is credited with bringing the first lace into America.

Mrs. John Frith, overall chairperson for the event said: "We were really so very fortunate. The weather was balmy, and our guests were more than generous, breaking any previous record. The funds, of course, will be used toward church and community projects in Pass Christian."

OLG Carnival Association stages 50th anniversary ball

Mrs. Madeline Prendergast and Victor Frankiewicz Sr. reigned as king and queen of the recent 50th anniversary ball of the Our Lady of the Gulf Carnival Association.

The ball honored 50 years of past royalty, including Mrs. Omer DeBever who served as queen in 1938.

Other kings and queens recognized were Mrs. Margaret Otis, 1940; Mrs. Princess Fahey, 1943; Mrs. Rejla Gilmore, 1944; Dr. Marion Wolfe Sr., 1945; Mrs. Ed Arceneaux, 1946; Mary Staehle Authenreith, 1959; Myrtle Stieffel, 1960; Dr. and Mrs. Andrew Martinolich, 1964; Mrs. Irma Levens, 1966; and Bob Wade and Eleanor Hill, 1968.

Also, Marilyn Hille, 1971; Marion Wolfe Jr. and Kay Gex, 1974; Jay Triche, 1975; Russell Elliott and Mrs. Nolan Kingston, 1976; Cathy Ladner, 1978; Mr. and Mrs. Mike Haas, 1979; E.J. Marengo and Sherlyn Breland, 1980; George Lipscomb and Martha Smith, 1981; and George Proulx and Kay Wolfe, 1982.

Pages to their majesties for 1983 were Rhonda Cummings and Heather McIver.

Entertainment for the evening was provided by Vic Frankiewicz Jr., Cindy Rentz, Sherry Schwabacher, Claudia Murphy, Dan Griffon, Pam Griffon, Francis Spotorno, and Carol Mahler, accompanist.

'Beyond Therapy' opens six-play Spring season

The Contemporary Arts Center in New Orleans will present the fourth play of its six play 1982-1983 season, 'Beyond Therapy,' as its March offering.

'Beyond Therapy' is by Christopher Durang, the author of the long running Off-Broadway hit 'Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All For You.'

The show will run Thursdays—Sundays, March 3-6, 10-13 and 17-20 at 8 p.m. at the center, 900 Camp

Street. Ron Gural will direct the cast which includes Isable Medina-Hardison, Richard Brase, Larry Dumont, Tony Bentley, Susan Shumate and Matt Borel.

The play is a "black comedy" which satirizes the various therapies of the "me" generation.

The plot revolves around a couple who meet through a personals ad and attempt to begin a relationship. However, because of their respective, inept and hip therapists, their attempts are consistently thwarted.

'Beyond Therapy' as replaced the originally scheduled production of 'The Club.'

Tickets are $6, $5 for CAC members and free parking is available adjacent to the center.

This project is jointly sponsored by the Louisiana State Arts Council, the Downtown Development District, and the National Endowment for the Arts.

Eating habits are primary cause of weight problems

Overweight people who claim they only eat when they are hungry may be eating every time they think they are hungry.

"Some people have trouble telling the difference between actual hunger, the physical need for nourishment, and appetite, the desire for food."

Barbara McLaurin, food and nutrition specialist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension service, offered that explanation of why some people find themselves to be fighting the battle of the bulge despite what they consider to be moderate eating habits.

"Research has shown that some people tend to eat in response to environmental cues," Mrs. McLaurin said. For years bakeries have vented their ovens onto the sidewalk, replying on the smell of fresh-baked breads and pastries to trigger people's appetites. Other people's appetites are set off by the sight of a clock telling them it's lunch or dinner time.

"Persons who want to reduce their weight must break the habits which created the problem in the first place," Mrs. McLaurin said.

"Persons wanting to control their eating habits should begin by keeping a thorough record of what and when they eat for at least a week," the expert said.

"After the record is completed, the individual should go over it asking himself these questions:

—How many meals and snacks did I eat each day?

—How much did I eat at each meal?

—How much time did I spend at each meal?

—Did my eating habits change on the weekend?

—Where did I do most of my eating?

—Did I usually eat alone or with people?

—Did I eat only when I was hungry, or did I eat as a pastime, when bored, nervous, tired, restless?

"After the record has been studied, and the questions answered, patterns should become obvious. Prospective dieters, or weight-gain-avoiders, should make changes in their eating habits slowly, starting with the easiest, least drastic changes. In this way success is more likely, and discouragement can be avoided."

"For example, it is easier to change where someone eats than it is to change when they eat."

"After a successful change, a reward is in order; a night out at the movies, a special purchase, a walk in the park, anything but food."

Mrs. McLaurin said the dieter should continue the record keeping so progress could be seen easily.

"Look them over for the good days, as well as the not-so-good days."

Some of the common eating problems have simple solutions according to Mrs. McLaurin.

"Persons who find themselves eating everytime they sit down in front of the TV can break this habit by being sure to have something else to do with their hands. Knitting, sewing, folding laundry, pet grooming, ironing, organizing toy boxes, pasting trading stamps, balancing checkbooks, all these are productive things to keep idle hands from searching for the popcorn bowl," she said.

"People who head straight for the refrigerator as soon as they get home from work should attempt to stay out of the kitchen. These people snack until dinner is served, and then, even though they are full, they go ahead and eat the meal. They should try to find something to do until dinner is ready, and if they must snack they should stick to raw vegetables."

"And then there's in-satiable taster, the person who takes a spoonful everytime he stirs the pot. Or the person who slices cheese and puts every other slice in his mouth. These people should allow themselves only one taste to be sure everything is correct, and then leave the stirring or slicing to someone else. They should bake cookies and eat them after they have eaten, a full stomach will reduce the desire to nibble."

THE FISHERMEN—The Bay St. Louis First Baptist Church will host an appearance by The Fishermen at 11 a.m. Sunday, March 13. The group, which presents a Christian witness through contemporary religious music, is sponsored by the Mississippi State University Baptist Student Union. They include, seated from left, Penne Madison, Retha Bryant, Laury Lawrence and Teresa Nail, and standing from left, Rick Nash, Peggy Green, Michael Ball, Peyton Rawls, John Chandler, Gay Harris and William Tyner.

THE ABUNDANT LIFE

By Shawn Murphy

MINISTER, BAY ST. LOUIS CHURCH OF CHRIST

Therefore, since we have a great high priest who has gone into heaven, Jesus the Son of God, let us hold firmly to the faith we profess. For we do not have a high priest who is unable to sympathize with our weaknesses, but we have one who has been tempted in every way, just as we are—yet without sin. Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need. (Hebrews 4:14-16)

Christians do have a high priest, and a great one at that. The implication of the Hebrew writer is that there was some doubt about it.

Jesus, our high priest is greater than even Aaron himself. His greatness is seen in the fact that He has passed through the heavens (cf. 7:26; 9:24).

Other priests like Aaron passed through a material veil into the Holy of Holies, but our high priest Jesus as Son of God has gone directly into the presence of God the Father.

Another mark of the great high priest is suggested in the designation 'Jesus, the Son of God.' The phrase is significant, joining together the human and the divine natures of the Christian high priest.

As Son of God He is strong and dependable and on intimate terms with the Father; as son of man He has behind Him a distinct human history which enables Him to understand men.

The author puts down any objection that one who is so exalted about our problems and temptations. He was tempted 'in every respect' by the same one who tempts our souls with lustful visions and harmful relationships.

And yet He was without sin. The sinlessness of Jesus is stated here for the first time in Hebrews, but it is stated elsewhere as well (II Corinthians 5:21; I Peter 2:22; I John 3:5).

Since Jesus knows the power of sin and understands sinners, the appeal is, Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence.

The exhortation to draw near strikes one of the Epistle's keynotes, that is that the religion of Christ is the religion of access to God.

Under the old covenant, only the priests could draw near—and they only on stipulated conditions—and the people could not draw near at all.

But how you may ask are we able to approach him since only the priests under the old covenant could do this? The

"I am come that they might have life, and that they might have it more abundantly."

—John 10:10

answer is quite simple—He has made all of those who have been born again to be priests!

But you are a chosen people, a royal priesthood, a holy nation, a people belonging to God... (I Peter 2:9)

To Him who loves us, and has made us to be a Kingdom and priests to serve His God and Father... (Revelation 1:6)

Are you a born again believer struggling with Satan's temptations? Perhaps your problem is an addiction to alcohol or drugs. Or maybe sexual immorality or even hatred.

As a priest you have the means to take your need directly to the throne of God by the authority of your high priest Jesus Christ! What are you waiting for? The call is toll-free and the lines are never busy.

In fact, your Heavenly Father is sitting on the edge of His seat waiting to hear from and help you.

Let us then approach the throne of grace with confidence, so that we may receive mercy and find grace to help us in our time of need.

Abundant Life Crusade planned here May 1-6

A six day 'Abundant Life Crusade For Christ' will be conducted in Bay St. Louis beginning Sunday, May 1.

The 'Back to the Bible' campaign is sponsored locally by the Church of Christ.

According to Shawn Murphy, whose column "Abundant Life" is featured in the Sea Coast Echo's Sunday Editions, a different internationally evangelist and speaker will be featured each night.

The speakers are all from the staff of International Bible College in Florence, Ala.

Murphy also stated that trained and experienced Bible instructors will be available for personal study. Anyone interested should contact him at 467-9645 or 467-8024.

In addition to the speakers, the "Good News Quartet," an a cappella singing group from IBC will present a program nightly.

The Crusade is non-denominational and all interested are invited to participate, Murphy added.

Brian Ladner joins foreign missionaries

Brian Ladner of Hattiesburg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Ladner of Hancock County, is a member of a basketball team of 10 Mississippi Baptists who will be in Paraguay, South America, March 11-20 for four games with Paraguayan players.

The team will be sponsored by the Department of Student Work of the Mississippi Baptist Convention Board.

Each of the players will be raising the money himself to make the trip.

On Sunday, Mar. 13, they will be appearing in Paraguayan Baptist churches to speak. The trip is a part of a cooperative Christian ministry between Mississippi Baptists and Baptists in South America.

Ladner is a member of Nineteenth Avenue Baptist Church in Hattiesburg. He is six feet, six inches tall and weighs 215 pounds.

Ladner is now a student at the University of Southern Mississippi. Before enrolling at the university he was a student at Pearl River Junior College at Poplarville, and played basketball there for two years.

He also played basketball for four years at Hancock North Central High School,

Parish News

By FR. R.C. KELLER
What unites us with every other human person is our need of God. We cannot save ourselves. This recognition is the beginning of that repentance which will bring us God's salvation.

Semi-Pro Basketball Tournament is in its second of four weekend sessions at the Seminary Gym. Games start today and next Saturday at noon, and next Friday at 7 p.m. Admission: adults, $1.50; students, $1; under 12, 50 cents.

Members of Zone A of the parish worked the door and the concessions last week; Catholic Youth Organization who did the cleanup; and others contributed money, cookies, candies and hot dogs to help defray the expenses. We still welcome further donations.

Bobby McGowan won the $50 gasoline prize offered by the Alcorn Alumni Scholarship Fund Association. Tina Williams said Emleigh Jacobs and Darius McGowan turned in a 'splendid performance' as bride and groom in the Tom Thumb Wedding last Sunday in Gulfport sponsored by the Alcorn Alumni.

Parents and friends helped these children with this contest.

Today is Girl Scout Sunday. We wish to recognize them for their endeavors and the adults who work with these children in this important phase of their lives.

Religious instructions is offered today at 10 a.m. for children attending public school, kindergarten through eighth grade, and also for Confirmation and Pre-Confirmation classes.

The Confirmation will also meet on Monday and Wednesday at 6:30 p.m. The 11th and 12th graders will meet on Monday at 5:30 p.m.

Catholic Youth Organization will meet on Monday at 7 p.m. Little People's Choir will practice on Tuesday at 5:30 p.m., the Gospel Choir at 6:30 p.m.

Confirmation Class will take care of the service part of the liturgy at Wednesday evening Lenten Family mass, 7:30 p.m. Seminary Novices will sing.

The parish council will meet Thursday at 7 p.m.

Next weekend the Seminary is sponsoring a guided Lenten prayer experience at the Seminary Retreat Center in the former major seminary building.

Father John Stoessel, SVD will be director.

Arrival time is 7:30 p.m. on Friday. The program will end on Sunday after lunch. Donation is $30, or less, if you do not stay overnight. Call the seminary, 467-7347, to register.

THE LAST GASP OF M*A*S*H

In the history of television, very few programs have been afforded the luxury of writing their own ending. Most series cling like tenacious marmosets to the mother network until bad ratings force the parent to cast its offspring aside.

But on Feb. 28, "M*A*S*H" said goodbye to millions of faithful viewers.

The final episode of "M*A*S*H" was an extended epitaph—a two and a half hour extravaganza that boosted commercial time to $450,000 per half minute.

It featured great production values and a multitude of exterior shots filmed on location.

Penned by nearly the entire writing staff of "M*A*S*H," including Thad Mumford, Dan Wilcox, Karen Hall and Alan Alda, who also directed the grand finale, the last "M*A*S*H" was a poignant farewell to some of our favorite characters.

The movie began slow and resembled a Woody Allen film with Hawkeye having just suffered a nervous disorder. Sidney Friedman, played to usual perfection by series semi-regular Alan Arbus, valiantly struggled against Hawkeye's mindless ranting to reach the core of his plight. Basically, Hawkeye's trauma stemmed from a baby crying on a bus that had been surrounded by Red Chinese. The bus carried the entire 407th and a number of wounded soldiers.

In order to remain concealed, Hawkeye ordered the woman to keep the baby quiet. In his nervously disorganized mind, Hawkeye had mentally substituted a chicken for the baby.

In a series of carefully manipulated flashbacks, it was revealed that the Korean mother had smothered her child in order to save the people on the bus. It was one of "M*A*S*H" most devastating moments.

Meanwhile, back at the camp, Major Winchester had begun to whip a band of POW Chinese musicians into Mozartian shape.

Clad in his elegant, expensive bathrobe, Winchester bated his way through classical music passages.

After he had them near perfection, they were shipped to a relocation center.

As the truck drove away, the musicians began to play a tribute to their maestro. And as the beautifully executed music began to fade in the distance the omnipresent loudspeaker announced that a truce had been reached. Winchester visibly slumped.

Later Winchester learned that the entire band had been killed on their journey. In one of the series' most memorable scenes, Charles explains, "When I came here, music was my refuge...and now it is my reminder."

And then it was time to say goodbye. Klinger, the transvestite turned efficient company clerk, married a Korean girl and remained in Korea to help search for his bride's parents.

Father Mulcahy, having lost his hearing during a bombardment, went off to work with the deaf.

Margaret (Hot Lips) Houlihan returned to the States to work in a hospital. Winchester returned to "Beantown" to take up residence at Boston Mercy.

And Sherman Potter, sitting proud on his horse, began to make his way back to Missouri to help Mrs. Potter around the house.

Then, as Hawkeye and B.J. Honicutt went to the helicopter pad, you could sense it was almost over.

They held one another, rehearsed a couple of adolescent pranks and then broke from one another's arms.

B.J. rode off—wild and reckless—on a motorcycle headed for the West Coast via Guam and Honolulu.

Hawkeye, now suddenly more serious and calmer than he has every been, sat stoically in the helicopter. It began to lift off and Hawkeye saw, written in carefully placed stones, that B.J. had fashioned the word "Goodbye" on the pad.

The haunting "M*A*S*H" theme began to play and the helicopter disappeared into the mountains.

We salute you "M*A*S*H," you were good for all of us.

Hospital social services director. The public is invited to view the display arranged by Musick and read the accompanying literature which will be exhibited during March at the library. Musick notes this is National Social Work Month. (Staff photo by Wayne Ducomb Jr.)

Telephone company files equipment purchase plan

South Central Bell has filed with the Mississippi Public Service Commission a plan under which its Mississippi customers will have the option of purchasing the telephones and certain other equipment they now rent. The plan would become effective March 17, 1983, with Mississippi Public Service Commission approval.

The company is offering the plan because many customers have indicated an interest in purchasing equipment and because of changes in the company's structure as a result of the Federal Communications Commission's Computer II decision.

The Computer II decision required that new terminal equipment be offered through a separate subsidiary beginning in 1983.

"From mid-March through mid-April, the company plans to send every customer detailed information and an order blank in the envelope with their telephone bill," Don Roberts, District manager, said.

"Customers who want to buy the phones they're now renting are simply asked to complete the order form and return it to us, and we'll take it from there."

Roberts emphasized that the decision to buy the phone is up to the customer. Customers who do not wish to buy their phones need take no action, and their service will continue as it now is.

South Central Bell would also begin selling telephones from its customer Service Centers, Roberts said. But, proposed prices for basic telephone sets at the Service Centers would be $15 to $20 higher than those for "in-place" equipment. The lower price for in-place equipment will be offered only until June 14, 1983, with Commission approval.

Roberts listed the following details of the plan:

—the offer applies to standard, Princess' and Trimline' telephones; customers are now renting; some automatic dialers and special functional equipment are also covered;

—party-line customers are not eligible; nor will the company sell equipment connected to complex systems as PBXs or "key" systems;

—phones are being sold as is, with a 30-day limited warranty for those sold in place, and a 90-day limited warranty for those sold through the Service Centers; after the warranty expires, customers will have to pay for repairs.

—purchase of an in-place phone eliminates the monthly service charge for that phone; other charges, including the Touch-Tone' service charge, will continue to apply.

—residential customers who qualify after a credit check will have the option of having the charges billed in four equal monthly installments, with no interest charges.

South Central Bell has set up two special toll-free numbers for customers who would like information on the offer. These numbers are:

Residential customers, 1-800-626-1700;

Business customers, 1-800-282-8883.

Here is a list of the equipment being offered for sale and proposed prices. The figure in parenthesis is the monthly rate now charged for the same item. These are prices for the equipment customers now have in use in their homes or businesses; equipment sold at the Service Center would be priced higher.

Standard rotary desk set, ($1.50) $19.95; standard Touch-Tone desk set, ($2.50) $41.95; standard rotary wall phone, ($1.50) $19.95; standard Touch-Tone wall set, ($2.50) $41.95; Trimline rotary desk set, ($3) $44.95; Trimline Touch-Tone desk set, ($4) $54.95; Trimline rotary wall set, ($3) $44.95; Trimline Touch-Tone wall set, ($4) $54.95; Princess rotary set, ($2.75) $39.95; Princess Touch-Tone set, ($3.50) $49.95.

School bus drivers needed

Pass Schools

The Pass Christian School System is currently seeking applications for bus drivers for the 1983-84 school year.

Several drivers are needed to replace those who are not returning.

Candidates must be 18 years of age, in good physical and mental health, and available to work early mornings and afternoons.

Headstart

The Catahoula Community headstart Center in Hancock County is also seeking a bus driver.

The applicant must have a van, station wagon or bus to transport children in the center area.

For information, call Doris Ladner, 255-7312.

PUBLIC NOTICE

A public meeting will be conducted by the Bay St. Louis Board of Adjustment at 7:00 p.m., on Friday, March 11, 1983, in the City Hall of the City of Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, to consider a variance to the Bay St. Louis Zoning Ordinance relative to Lot 367, Third Ward, City of Bay St. Louis, Hancock County, Mississippi, (located at 107 Citizen Street). Said variance concerns a reduction in required lot size after the lot is subdivided, to allow construction of a smaller dwelling.

All interested agencies and citizens are invited to attend.

W-D BRAND U.S. CHOICE BEEF

If your mother always told you to get the best quality for your money, she's right... The Beef People at WINN-DIXIE feel the same way. They believe in giving you only U.S. Choice... which means beef that is tender, but not soft... beef with perfect flavor that comes only from grain-fed cattle.

W-D Brand U.S. Choice Beef is deep in color... well marbled... and more important to your budget, it is trimmed of excess bone and fat before it's weighed, giving you more meat you can eat... at the best possible prices.
